

Transitions: An opportunity for teaching
Conference on the Young Years
March 12-14, 2020
Rhodanne M. Schiller MS Ed

“Change is inevitable. Growth is optional” John Maxwell

Change is, by nature, the outcome of education.

Transitions are a form of change and are a wonderful opportunity for teaching:

- Potentially motivating
- Creates a new paradigm
- Often includes new people and perspectives
- Generates reflection

Strategies:

- Anticipate and offer resources
- Use reflective questions
- Create stories
- Celebrate small successes
